

Cookies Policy (Last Updated: April 2024)

1. Introduction

We, Decintell Tech Pvt. Ltd. (“Decintell”, “Company”, “we”, “us”, “our”) may use cookies or similar technologies to analyse information about your use of our <https://decintell.com/> (“Website”). We are committed to protecting the privacy and security of your personal information. We advise you to carefully read this cookie policy (“Policy”), together with the Company’s Privacy Notice (https://decintell.com/policies/decintell_privacy.pdf) so that you are aware of the cookies and technologies used as well as how we treat your personal information.

2. What are Cookies?

Cookies are alphanumeric files which are placed on to your device when you visit a website. It allows us to recognize your device and store some information about your preferences or past actions, analyse trends, to learn about our user base, operate and improve our services and provide you with a better experience when you visit our website.

3. Types of Cookies Used

- i. Permanent cookies – Permanent cookies helps us recognize you as an existing user, so it’s easier for you to return to the website without signing in again. After signing in, the permanent cookies stay on your browser and will be read when you return on to our sites. These remain on your computer/device for a pre-defined period.
- ii. Session cookies – Session cookies only last for as long as the session exists (they get erased when the user closes the browser).

As for the domain to which it belongs, there are either:

- a) First-party cookies: These cookies are set by the web server of the visited page and share the same domain.
- b) Third- party cookies: These cookies are placed by third party on your device and may provide information to us and third parties about your usage of the website.
- c) Analytical Tools:

Google Analytics: We use Google Analytics, a web analytics service provided by Google Inc. (“Google”). Google Analytics uses cookies, text files that are stored on your computer and enable analysis of your use of the website.

4. Use of Cookies

We use personal information captured through cookies to make your interaction with us faster and more secure. They may be used for the following purposes:

- i. Preferences – Cookies allow the website to remember information that changes the way the site behaves or looks, such as your preferred language or the region you are in. Remembering your preferences enables us to personalize and display advertisements and other content for you.
- ii. Security/Optimization – Cookies allow us to maintain security by authenticating users, preventing fraudulent use of login credentials and protect user data from unauthorized parties. We may use certain types of cookies that allow us to block many types of attacks, such as attempts to steal content from the forms present on the website.
- iii. Processing – Cookies enable the website to work efficiently. Basis such cookies, we are able to deliver services that a website visitor expects, like navigating around web pages or accessing secure areas of the website.
- iv. Advertising – We use cookies to make advertising more engaging for our users. Some common applications of cookies are made to select advertising based on what's relevant to you, to improve reporting on campaign performance and to avoid showing ads you would have already seen. Cookies capture information about how you interact with the website, which includes the pages that you visit most.
- v. Communication – We may use information collected via cookies to communicate with you, for seeking your opinion and feedback and providing you services and promotional materials.
- vi. Analytics and Research – We may use cookies to better understand how people use our services so that we can improve them.

5. Disabling Cookies

You can decide whether to accept or not to accept cookies. You can disable the cookies by adjusting the settings on your browser (see your browser Help for how to do this). Disabling cookies may affect the functionality of our website.
